Dear Parent,

Subject: Learning dignity of labour

Greetings!

Children's attitudes are influenced in the formative years. Somehow as children grow, it slowly gets ingrained in their minds that 'doing things manually' is something not upright. All occupations whether involving intellect or physical labour deserve equal respect and dignity. No job should be considered superior or inferior.

This Labour Day (1st May,2023), to introduce our students to a collarless world of work and respect, children would gift handmade cards and flowers (only if parents can send home grown flowers) to all helpers like ayah didis, drivers, peons, house boys, sweepers, gardener, and guards to thank them for their relentless service.

This Saturday (29th April,2023), along with other activities, children will prepare the above cards and learn to keep their things in order by cleaning their own classroom. This will help them learn, appreciate, and understand the value of manual work. It is also an opportunity to tell them that all work is dignified and every job is valued and respected. Kindly send colours for making the card and a small old cloth(rag) with your child to contribute in cleaning his/her classroom.

We look forward to the cooperation of parents to teach dignity of labour and respect for skills to our students.

Best Regards
